100+ Millennials Who Care Donates Nearly $9,000 to Dutton Farm

- Contribution includes $1,000 from UHY LLP

Rochester, Mich. Aug. 29, 2019 – 100+ Millennials Who Care (100MWC) is proud to partner with UHY LLP to donate to Dutton Farm. Members of 100MWC presented Jenny Brown, CEO and founder of Dutton Farm Inc. with a check for $8,850 at Dutton Farm in Rochester Hills.

In addition to the check presentation, members of the group were able to take a tour and learn more about the organization. The primary objective of Dutton Farm is skill building for those with special needs who have been left on the sidelines their entire lives. Farmers and employees are given a choice as to how they want to spend their work day and are fairly compensated for all the work they do. Dutton Farm brings together one of the most lively and special groups of people you will ever meet to create farm-to-table organic products.

“Dutton Farm is essentially the reason we founded 100 Millennials Who Care”, said founder Michelle Denno. “As a smaller local organization working to provide opportunities for those with special needs founded on the principles of equality and inclusion, we couldn’t be happier with where our members decided to make our contribution.”

100+ Millennials who care will host their next meeting on October 23 at The Dow located inside Dick O’Dows in Birmingham. Representatives from Dutton Farm will be in attendance to recap where the funds were allocated for the rest of the members. Three new charities will be nominated and one will be chosen to receive the next donation.
